Gen. H. Hugh Shelton Leadership Challenge

If you are in high school and you think you have what it takes to be a leader, have influence and sway among your peers, or may be a future team captain, class officer, or club president?

The General H. Hugh Shelton Leadership Challenge at Fayetteville State University is an opportunity for you and is a one week (July 18-23) residential camp experience to help students expand their knowledge and build the skills necessary to be ethical leaders. Students will participate in activities that will help them have a better understanding for public speaking, role of values and ethics, approaches to leadership, civic and social responsibility and goal setting.

The BRAC Regional Task Force will provide eleven scholarships for students from the BRAC Region (one scholarship per county). Please alert students to the opportunity. The Challenge application and Financial Aid document are available at <http://www.uncfsu.edu/ResLife/shelton>.

Please write across the top that you would like to be considered for a BRAC Scholarship. The Application deadline is June 18, 2010.
